MANAGEMENT COMMENT

In August, the fund's benchmark lost -0.05%. The US 10-year yield ended the month at 4.11%, up 15bp from the end of July 2023. In August, the investment grade credit market experienced a sideways movement in spreads and a performance influenced by the trend in interest rates, which rose in the first part of the month enough to reach new highs in the U.S. and approach the highs of the year in Europe and then fall back to levels that varied little over the period. In an environment of low liquidity typical of the summer months the total return performance was slightly negative. Even looking at the CDS indices we find confirmation of the trading range of spreads with an initial phase of weakness followed by a recovery in the second half of the month. The valuations of the segment remain attractive in our view as they are characterized by spreads consistent with a stable or only slightly deteriorating fundamental picture and by total return levels capable of attracting investors' interest. The fund posted a performance of -0.14% for the month. We maintain a limited proportion of HY bonds (around 6.7%) and strong sector diversification. In line with our management policy, we increased slightly the portfolio's duration by buying Investment Grade securities: Amgen 2028, Citigroup 2028, Eni 2028, Hsbc 2029 and Lowe's 2029. We selected these securities to maintain an attractive duration/yield ratio and a controlled level of credit risk for the fund and we also sold some shorter maturity bond to
