MANAGEMENT COMMENT

The 2-year US Treasury fell by 50bps to +4.25%. The Fed left monetary policy unchanged at its meeting on 31 July. A first rate cut could be voted on as early as September if inflation continues to idle. The contraction in wage growth is accompanying this slowdown in inflation. The market is expecting three rate cuts before the end of the year. The carry of the fund remains attractive. Duration has been kept high and the average rating of investments is equivalent to BBB.
